Photos of War Graves

While doing research for the DHG, I was asked to obtain some photos of a gravestone or plaque for a World War 1 soldier from the Commonwealth War Graves Commission website

<http://www.cwgc.org/>

I found out which cemetery he was in, I followed another link to The War Graves Photographic Project website

<http://www.twgpp.org/>

From here I put the soldiers name in the search area, and his file came up and I had the choice of a emailed photo or a real photo that would be mailed out to you. I choose the email it cost £3.50($5.60), this is a donation to support the taking of these photos.

The two photos, one of the cemetery and one of his name on the wall were sent that day, a very good service.

So I decided to research my two great uncles who were killed in World War 2, one died working on the Burma Railway and the other in a flying boat accident near Port Moresby, New Guinea.

I have thought about going to visit these cemetery but until then

I have wonderful photos to add to my Family Collection.

If you would like some assistance getting some photos for your own families history, come a see me on one of our Open Days listed below and I will give you a hand using our computers
